

THE UK BRIBERY ACT 2010 COULD IMPACT THE MOST VIRTUOUS CORPORATION.

(The one time that a nice cuppa tea simply won't make it all better.)

If your company does business in the UK and you're not familiar with the new Bribery Act 2010, you might want to put the kettle on and settle in for a read.

As an executive, you need to know that your company, compliance officers and other senior management may be liable for the illegal actions of your employees or agents. Of course the actions of your organisation have been and will always be upstanding and beyond reproach, right?

While the legislation may be written in fairly broad language, there is nothing ambiguous about the consequences: penalties are stiff and include possible prison time and unlimited fines.

And consider this: authorities can investigate and prosecute any corrupt activity by your employees and agents even if these infractions don't occur on British soil. How's that tea tasting?

So, now might be a good time to introduce ourselves.

We are Global Compliance, a leading global provider of integrated ethics and compliance solutions. We introduced the first confidential employee hotline service 30 years ago – and now partner with more than 4,000 clients in over 200 countries and territories, including half the Fortune 100 and a quarter of the Global 500.

We've integrated the four components of an effective, comprehensive compliance programme into a single global solution to maximise your risk reduction – and one that can prepare you for the UK Bribery Act 2010:

Expert Advisory – Our in-house arm of expert ethics and compliance advisors provides in-depth analysis and evaluation of your current anti-bribery, risk and Code of Conduct programmes. We're already providing guidance to the Serious Fraud Office on adequate anti-corruption procedures based on our 30 years of best practices.

Training and Education – Global Compliance offers both on-line and in-person ethics and compliance training including UK Bribery Act 2010 and Global Anti-Corruption for boards of directors, senior management and employees at every level of your organisation.

Hotline Solutions with Case Management – AlertLine® is the industry's first and largest confidential hotline solution that now supports more than 25 million employees in over 150 languages – and designed specifically to comply with EU data privacy requirements. Available via telephone, web and mobile browsers – including Blackberry® smartphones and iPhone® devices.

Performance and Benchmarking – With over 3 million records, Integrity Diagnostics™ is the largest and most robust source of ethics and compliance data available – an invaluable resource in helping your organisation make informed decisions.

There's no better time to have a partner who is an expert on compliance. Global Compliance can show you how to adapt and prepare for tricky legislation with a programme tailored to your company. And we can do it all before teatime. So relax, and let us show you how Global Compliance is Good for BusinessSM.

To Talk to Our Global Representative, Claire Dossett, Call 0845-272-5220 (in the UK)
or +44 20 8977 9377 (from outside the UK)

Or e-mail Claire at claire.dossett@globalcompliance.com

www.globalcompliance.com

© Copyright 2010 Global Compliance Services, Inc.
All rights reserved.

GLOBAL COMPLIANCESM
Good for Business.